Our first day of this work week was busy, with the calls starting right after briefing. During the day, officers responded to calls that resulted in several people being taken to jail and juvenile hall. Officers responded to a subject who arrived at his employment intoxicated. He refused to leave and ended up being arrested for public intoxication. In another incident, officers responded to a neighbor dispute in which one neighbor was intoxicated and throwing items over the fence, at the other neighbor, who had children in the pool. The suspect neighbor was contacted in his front yard and was not cooperative at all. He was eventually arrested and taken to jail. Officers handled several assault and battery calls, and placed one subject on a mental health hold due to him ingesting an unknown amount of pills.
