Today was bit quieter which gave officers a chance to catch up on some reports. An officer observed a male on a bicycle ride up to a group of homeless people and exchange what appeared to be narcotics. The male was stopped and searched per his probation status. He was found to have fentanyl in his possession and was arrested. An officer recognized a male wanted for robbery, walking through a parking lot of a gas station. He was promptly stopped and arrested. Other than that, officers handled some theft reports and a neighbor dispute.

SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Monday night followed Sunday night in terms of the cold and fogginess. The fog rolled in earlier that last night. This put a damper in calls for service. During this shift, officers contacted a subject who was in an argument with a shopping center security guard. The subject was extremely intoxicated. He was arrested and taken to jail.
